Neil McDavid

The idea is to develop an identifiable place for spiritual formation and leadership for clergy and laity. Inherent in the “center” idea is to cultivate a culture of leadership and growth in each local church to ultimately fulfill the vision of reaching out in the name of Christ to everyone within the bounds of the Alabama-West Florida Conference. The emphasis of the center is on people development, that is, the development of spiritual leaders who are provided practical tools for transformational leadership of the local church. The center, through a variety of course offerings, seminars (post seminary classes), under local and national leaders would seek to be a vehicle for transforming people, transforming churches and transforming the world. The center would be developed initially under the Office of Connectional Ministries of the Annual Conference in 2010. An advisory group would be named to join the Director of Connectional Ministries in the development of this center. Funding for this center would be solicited from foundations and individuals, etc.
